FELLOWSHIP PLEDGE

RECOGNIZING that the American College of Surgeons seeks to develop, exemplify, and enforce the highest traditions of our calling, I hereby pledge myself, as a condition of Fellowship in the College, to live in strict accordance with all its principles, declarations, and regulations. ¶ ¶ In particular, I pledge myself to pursue the practice of surgery with thorough self-restraint and to place the welfare of my patients above all else; to advance constantly in knowledge by the study of surgical literature, the instruction of eminent teachers, interchange of opinion among associates, and attendance on the important societies and clinics; to regard scrupulously the interests of my professional brothers and seek their counsel when in doubt of my own judgment; to render willing help to my colleagues and to give freely my services to the needy. ¶ ¶ Moreover, I pledge myself, so far as I am able, to avoid the sins of selfishness; to shun unwarranted publicity, dishonest money-seeking, and commercialism as disgraceful to our profession; to refuse utterly all secret money trades with consultants and practitioners; to teach the patient his financial duty to the physician and to urge the practitioner to obtain his reward from the patient openly; to make my fees commensurate with the service rendered and with the patient's rights; and to avoid discrediting my associates by taking unwarranted compensation. ¶ ¶ Finally, I pledge myself to co-operate in advancing and extending, by every lawful means within my power, the influence of the American College of Surgeons.

GENERAL STATEMENT

ORGANIZATION OF THE COLLEGE

THE American College of Surgeons is a society of surgeons of North and South America which aims to include within its Fellowship all who are of worthy character and who possess a practical knowledge of the science and art of surgery. The College is fundamentally concerned with matters of character and of training, with the betterment of hospitals and of teaching facilities in medical schools and hospitals, with laws which relate to medical practice and privilege, and with an unselfish protection of the public from incompetent medical service.

The College was organized on May 5, 1913, in Washington, D. C., when four hundred and fifty prominent surgeons came together at the invitation of an Organization Committee which had been appointed by the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America at its meeting in November, 1912. This Committee consisted of Edward Martin of Philadelphia, Emmet Rixford of San Francisco, John B. Murphy of Chicago, Rudolph Matas of New Orleans, Albert J. Ochsner of Chicago, Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, Frederic J. Cotton of Boston, George Emerson Brewer of New York, John M. T. Finney of Baltimore, Walter W. Chipman of Montreal, George W. Crile of Cleveland, and Franklin H. Martin of Chicago. By-laws, rules, and regulations were adopted, and the Board of Regents, the Board of Governors, and officers of the College were elected. Details of these matters are published in the Year Book and in bulletins of the College.

THE ENDOWMENT FUND

In order to provide funds for the organization of the College, an initial fee of fifty dollars from each Fellow was voted at the first meeting. Realizing that the income to be derived in this manner was temporary and inadequate, and desiring to place the College on a sound financial basis, the Fellows voted in June, 1914, to raise an Endowment Fund of one million dollars. This plan provided that the Endowment should be invested in perpetuity and only the income used for the budget of the College.

It developed later that the educational work of the College called for expenditures beyond the income provided by the interest of the Endowment, and the Fellows of the College, at the annual meeting held in Philadelphia in 1916, voted that those who had not subscribed to the fund should be assessed by annual dues of twenty-five dollars each. The full resolution provided:

That the Board of Regents be requested to levy annual dues on the Fellows of the American College of Surgeons as hereinafter provided.

1. That the annual dues of the Fellows of the College be $25, payable January 1.

2. That all Fellows who have subscribed $500 to the Endowment Fund of the College be exempt from annual dues.

3. That the total amount required of any Fellow in annual dues or other fees shall not exceed $500.

4. That the Board of Regents cancel the indebtedness of any Fellow of the College, without publicity, to whom, in its judgment, such dues are a hardship.

5. That no Fellow of the College be asked to contribute any fee whatever to the College either after sixty-five years of age or after he has retired from the active practice of surgery.

More than half a million dollars has already been raised for the Endowment, and the Regents desire to bring the fund up to one million dollars as rapidly as possible. A Fellow may become a life member of the College at any time by subscribing five hundred dollars to the permanent Endowment Fund. Subscription cards, similar to the illustrated form, may be obtained from the Director General of the College.

In case of death all unpaid balances are cancelled.

ENDOWMENT FUND

I hereby subscribe Five Hundred Dollars ($500) to the Endowment Fund of the American College of Surgeons, the amount to be paid in installments as follows:

THE CLINICAL CONGRESS OF THE AMERICAN COLLEGE OF SURGEONS

By the joint action of a committee appointed by the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America and of the Regents of the College, the Clinical Congress of Surgeons became, on October 25, 1917, the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons. The following resolution effected the merger of these two organizations:

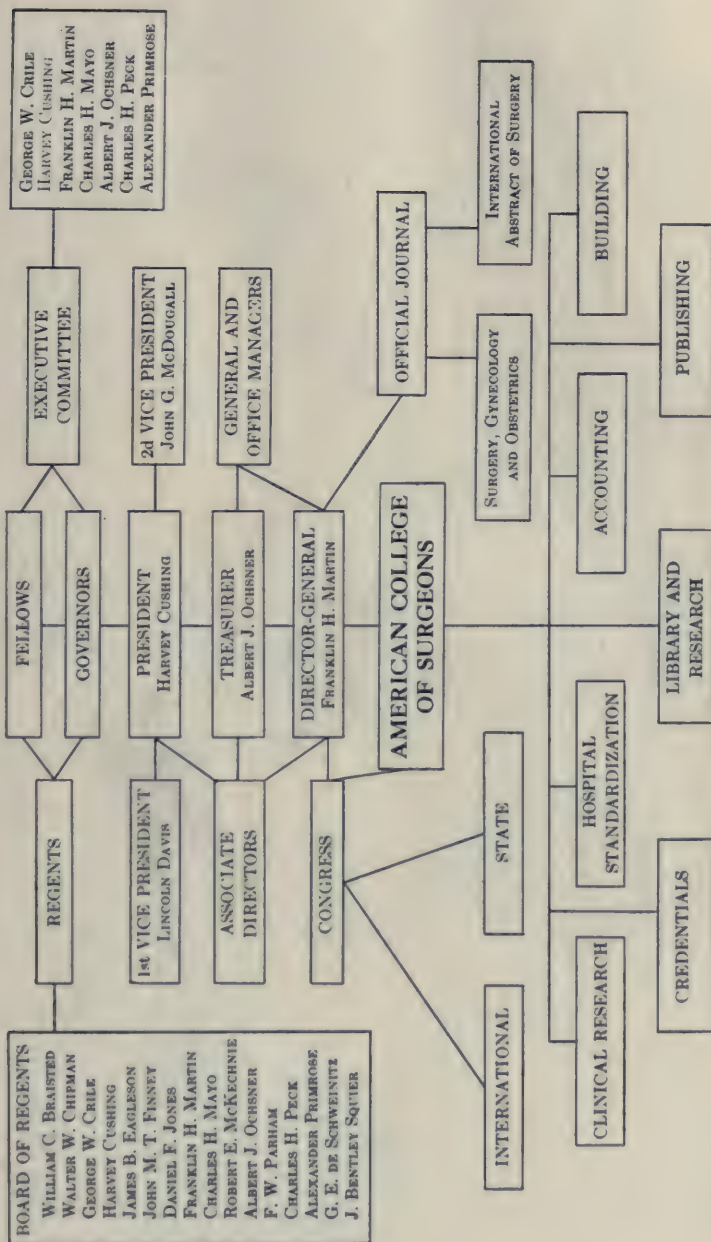

WHEREAS, the past presidents of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons were, on October 26, 1916, in Philadelphia, appointed as a Committee with power to act, to confer with the American College of Surgeons with a view to closer affiliation between these two organizations; and

WHEREAS, the Regents of the College, in accordance with Section VI, Article 3 of the By-Laws of the College, constitute a governing board with power to act with regard to the proposed affiliation. Now, therefore,

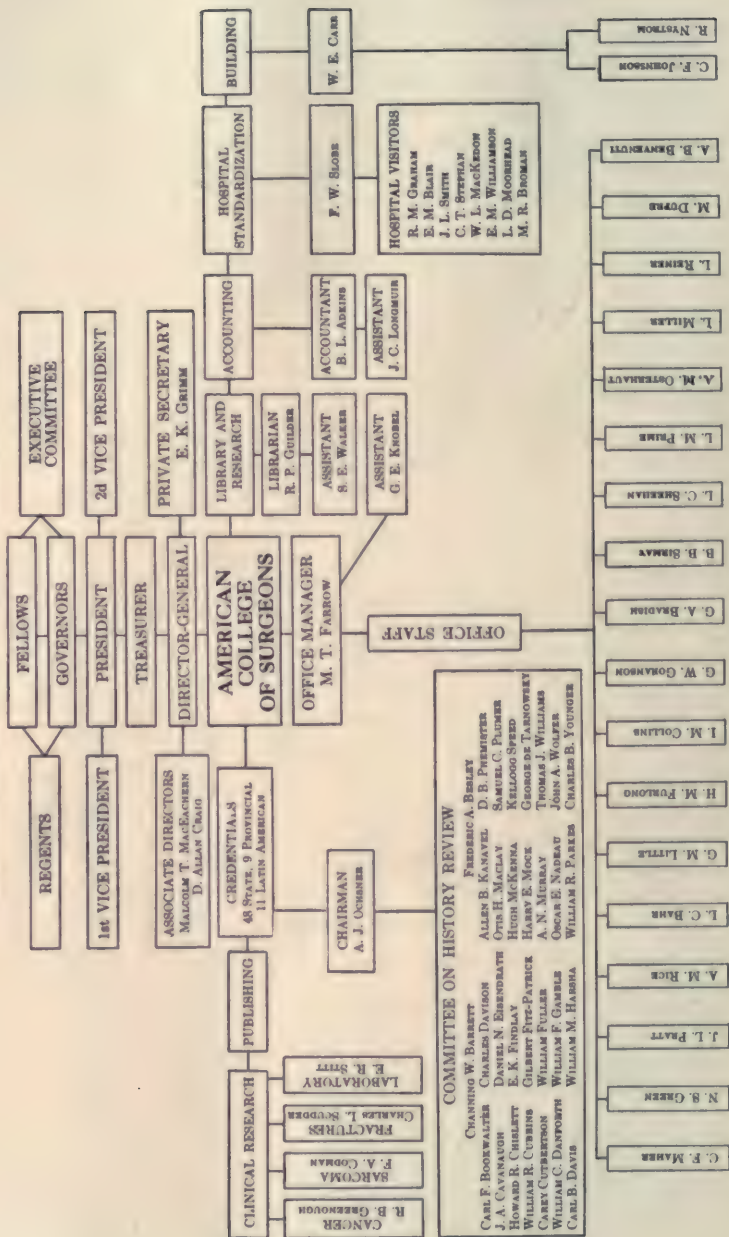

BE IT RESOLVED, that it is the unanimous decision of the Committee of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America, as above stated, and of the Regents of the American College of Surgeons in joint session, first, that for the welfare of the two organizations the management and the control of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons shall be vested hereafter in the American College of Surgeons; second, that hereafter the Clinical Congress of Surgeons shall be known as the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons with its invited guests.

REQUIREMENTS FOR FELLOWSHIP

Immediately after the organization of the College the Board of Regents authorized the appointing of Committees on Credentials. These Committees consist of the Central Committee which reports its recommendations for Fellowship directly to the Regents, and of State and Provincial Committees which report to the Central Committee.

In a separate bulletin the requirements for admission are published in detail. Briefly stated, these requirements are as follows:

1. The candidate shall be a graduate in medicine, licensed to practice medicine in his respective state or province, or accepted as a medical officer in the service of his country.

2. To be eligible for Fellowship without technical examination the candidate shall be a graduate of a medical school approved by the American College of Surgeons. If the candidate's school of graduation is not accredited by the American College of Surgeons, he may be required to pass a technical examination in one subject or all subjects of the medical curriculum.

3. The candidate shall give evidence that he has served at least one year as interne in a creditable hospital and two years as surgical assistant, or he shall give evidence of apprenticeship of equivalent value. Five to eight years after graduation in medicine, devoted to special training and to practice, are normally the time-requirement for eligibility to Fellowship. Due importance is attached to laboratory and research work.

4. The moral and ethical fitness of the candidate shall be determined by reports of surgeons whose names are submitted by the candidate himself, and by such other reports and data as the Credentials Committee and the administration of the College may obtain.

5. The professional activity of the candidate shall be restricted to the study, diagnosis, and operative work in general surgery or in special fields of surgery, such as eye, ear, nose, and throat, genito-urinary, orthopedics, and gynecology and obstetrics as follows: First, if the candidate resides in a city of less than fifty thousand inhabitants, at least fifty per cent of his professional activity shall be restricted to practice of general surgery or to practice within special fields of surgery as stated. Second, in cities of over fifty thousand inhabitants, at least eighty per cent of the professional activity of the candidate shall be restricted to practice of general surgery or to practice within special fields of surgery. In other words, the College desires to admit to its Fellowship only those who are primarily specialists in surgery, and the minimum proportion of specialization which is acceptable may vary according to the size of the city in which the candidate resides.

6. The candidate shall make formal application for Fellowship. Blank forms for this purpose may be had from the Director General of the College upon request.

7. In making application for Fellowship the candidate shall sign a declaration which reads as follows:

"Upon my honor as a gentleman, I hereby declare that I will not practice the division of fees, either directly or indirectly, in any manner whatsoever."

In the meaning of this declaration the signer agrees that in order to obviate any semblance of division of fees, he will as a general principle of practice not collect fees for others referring patients to him; nor permit other doctors to collect fees for him; nor make joint fees with physicians or surgeons referring patients to him for operation or consultation.

8. As evidence of his qualifications in the technique of surgery, the candidate is requested to submit in complete detail the case records of fifty consecutive major operations which he has performed himself.

9. In addition to the complete case records of fifty consecutive major operations, the candidate is asked to submit in brief abstract a report of at least fifty other major operations in which he has acted as assistant or which he has performed himself.

10. Surgeons widely recognized by the profession as progressive leaders and exponents of finished technique may, by a unanimous vote of the Board of Regents, be admitted to Fellowship on recommendation of the Committee on Examinations.

11. The Regents of the College reserve the right to alter, as they may think proper, the regulations respecting admission of Fellows to the College.

SURGEONS IN CONSIDERING CANDIDATES FOR FELLOWSHIP

The American College of Surgeons pursues a definite routine program in receiving and considering applications for Fellowship in the College. Before a final decision is reached an applicant's papers must necessarily pass through several stages. In outline, these are as follows:

1. Any legalized practitioner in medicine in North and South America may apply for Fellowship, and an application blank will be forwarded by the College upon receipt of a request.

2. The formal application which is required of all candidates for Fellowship supplies the following information: Date and place of birth; preliminary education; medical schools attended as an undergraduate and as a graduate; hospitals in which internship or residency was served; period of assistantship and with whom; present hospital connections; medical teaching positions; specialty and period of specialization; percentage of professional activity devoted to surgery or one of the surgical specialties; research conducted; medical society affiliations; and a list of personal contributions to medical literature. The candidate is also required to furnish five references, and to sign a pledge against the practice of the division of fees.

3. Upon receipt of the formal application, the College endeavors to verify the statements recorded therein. Each individual given as a reference is communicated with and is asked to fill out a comprehensive questionnaire that will furnish definite statements about the candidate's surgical judgment and ability, and confidential information about his moral and ethical standing. A questionnaire is also sent to Fellows of the College who live in the vicinity of the candidate.

4. When the data received from this preliminary survey are complete, the candidate's application is then presented to the Credentials Committee of his state or province for recommendation. The state or provincial Committee, acting as a preliminary court, makes its recommendation upon the evidence as presented together with such facts concerning the candidate as may be in the possession of the individual members of the Committee because of personal acquaintance.

5. In favorably considering a candidate for Fellowship, the State Committee on Credentials suggests the following procedure: a. If the candidate is under forty years of age he be required to submit case histories; b. If the candidate is over forty-five years of age, he be admitted without having to submit the case histories; c. If the candidate is between forty and forty-five years of age, he be or be not required to submit the case histories, as may be determined by the Central Committee on Credentials. Candidates required to submit case histories are notified of the requirements for Fellowship on that basis.

6. According to a resolution adopted by the Board of Regents on October 28, 1921, all applicants for Fellowship in the American College of Surgeons whose applications shall bear a date later than January 1, 1923, will be required to furnish the Committee on History Reviews fifty complete case-records of major surgical operations. Applicants over forty years of age may have the histories of these operations prepared by assistants.

7. When case-records are received from a candidate they are referred to the Committee on History Reviews. This Committee is composed of a group of competent surgeons who volunteer to serve in the capacity of examiners, and who spend many hours in the execution of their task. After each set of records has been carefully reviewed by the Committee, a summary of the findings with the recommendation signed by the examiner is attached to the records for the guidance of the Central Committee on Credentials.

8. All accumulated evidence that has come into the executive offices is finally brought before the Central Committee on Credentials. This Committee, as the higher court, peruses in detail the records of each candidate, sifts all the evidence on file in regard to his qualifications, and makes its recommendation.

9. One of three recommendations is made by the Central Committee: Acceptance, rejection, or postponement. An application may be postponed to enable the executive offices to secure further evidence of the candidate's fitness or unfitness for Fellowship; to afford the candidate an opportunity to correct or elaborate his records, which may have been lacking in some particulars; or to give the candidate an opportunity to prove that he is doing a sufficient amount of surgery to entitle him to Fellowship.

10. The central office endeavors to give every candidate for Fellowship such information as will aid him in completing his records. If his case-records are lacking in any essential which in the judgment of the Committee can be corrected, he is notified of the fact and an opportunity is given him to supply the omissions. Throughout its dealings with the candidate the central office endeavors to simplify the routine as much as possible, and to aid each applicant for membership in his task of furnishing satisfactory evidence of his qualifications.

11. Occasionally complaints are filed in the central office against what is considered unnecessary "red tape" in determining a candidate's qualifications for Fellowship. It is absolutely necessary that the uniform regulations formulated for the admission of candidates by the executive offices after several years of experience should be disinterestedly observed. Even though the candidate may appear most worthy to the officials of the College, short-cut methods cannot be employed without subjecting the Committee to severe criticism and lessening the judicial standing of the College.

12. The central office for obvious reasons must decline to furnish information about a candidate's application to other than the candidate himself.

13. Any candidate who is rejected, or whose candidature is delayed, may make a direct appeal to the Board of Regents for information.

14. The State and Provincial Committees on Credentials of the College are elected by the Fellows in the respective states and provinces, one-half of the membership being retired at each yearly election. The Central Committee on Credentials is appointed by the Board of Regents, and is changed from year to year.

COMMITTEE ON HISTORY REVIEWS

The Committee on History Reviews meets at the Executive Offices regularly one evening a week for three hours throughout the entire year for the examination of case records submitted by candidates in connection with their applications for Fellowship in the College, and during the months immediately preceding the Convocation it meets as often as three evenings a week in order to be able to complete the review of the exceptionally large number of records that reach the Central Office only a short time before the final date for the closing of the lists for the year. Over five hundred series of case records were reviewed by the Committee during the past year.

The personnel of the Committee follows:

Dr. A. J. Ochsner, Chairman

Dr. Channing W. Barrett	Dr. William M. Harsha
Dr. Frederic A. Besley	Dr. Allen B. Kanavel

PAN-AMERICAN PROGRESS.

During 1922, the American College of Surgeons made definite progress toward strengthening the affiliation between the surgeons of the Western Hemisphere. In January, February and March official visits were made by Dr. Edward I. Salisbury of Denver, to Colombia, Venezuela and Cuba, where Credentials Committees are now established, and by Dr. Francis P. Corrigan of Cleveland, to Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile, Peru and Panama, where in each country he met the Credentials Committee of the College which had previously been appointed.

In February, Dr. W. J. Mayo and Dr. Albert J. Ochsner, Regents of the College, made an informal visit to the Republic of Mexico, at which time they discussed with the surgeons of our sister Republic the affairs of the American College of Surgeons and established an affiliation between the Mexican surgeons and the College. In this way we have extended our acquaintance with our Latin American neighbors.

The affiliation between the surgeons of Latin America and of the United States and Canada began in the Spring of 1920, when Dr. W. J. Mayo, ex-President, and the Director General of the College visited Panama, Peru, Chile, Argentina, and Uruguay in behalf of the American College of Surgeons. The 1921 Year Book of the College contains an outline of the affiliation between the surgeons of South and North America which resulted from this trip.

The Director General again journeyed to South America in the Spring of 1921, on this occasion accompanied by Dr. Thomas J. Watkins of Chicago, a Governor of the College. In addition to the countries which were visited the previous year, the itinerary included the United States of Brazil, and was supplemented by a visit to the Republics of Ecuador and Bolivia by Dr. Francis P. Corrigan of Cleveland, Ohio, as official representative of the College.

The medical profession of Latin America was found to be both ready and willing to affiliate with the American College of Surgeons, and the representatives of the College received a most cordial reception at the hands of their southern confreres. Thirty-five Latin American surgeons were admitted to Fellowship at the 1920 Convocation in Montreal; at the 1921 Convocation held in Philadelphia, Fellowships were conferred upon fifty-four candidates; and at the 1922 Convocation held in Boston, thirty candidates were admitted to Fellowship.

A number of leading Latin American surgeons were recommended by the Board of Regents for Honorary Fellowship of the College. Four of them received this degree at the Philadelphia Convocation and seven at the Boston Convocation. Because of the ruling established by the Board of Regents that Honorary Fellowships shall not be conferred in absentia, several distinguished Latin American surgeons who were selected for this honor will receive the honorary degree at a future Convocation.

Committees on Credentials have been appointed in each of the countries in which there are Fellows of the College, and a number of applications for Fellowship from surgeons in these countries are now on file and under consideration for future membership.

It is contemplated that the Latin American countries with which we do not have an affiliation at the present time shall be visited at as early a date as possible in order that the College may be truly Pan-American in its scope.

In our work of extending Fellowship to Latin American surgeons we have had the most hearty cooperation of the diplomatic representatives in Washington, of the Pan-American Union, and of our own Department of State. A number of surgeons were sent to the Philadelphia and Boston Convocations as official representatives of their respective countries.

During 1922 the American College of Surgeons made definite progress toward strengthening the affiliation between the surgeons of the Western Hemisphere. In January, February, and March, official visits were made by Dr. Edward I. Salisbury, of Denver, to Colombia, Venezuela, and Cuba, where Credentials Committees are now established, and by Dr. Francis P. THE NEW HOME OF THE COLLEGE

In February Dr. William J. Mayo and Dr. Albert J. Ochsner, Regents of the College, made an informal visit to the Republic of Mexico, at which time they discussed with the surgeons of our sister Republic the affairs of the American College of Surgeons and established an affiliation between the Mexican surgeons and the College. In this way we have extended our acquaintance with our Latin American neighbors.

THE NEW HOME OF THE COLLEGE

On May 1, 1920, the administrative offices of the American College of Surgeons were transferred to the permanent location at 40 East Erie Street, Chicago.

The new home of the College, which is a commodious and handsome structure with adjoining land suitable for future extension, was purchased and presented to the College by public-spirited lay citizens of Chicago and a group of Fellows of the College residing in that city. The home, besides furnishing an adequate business office for the College, will provide a dignified and suitable meeting place for local and visiting surgeons. This property, coming to the College as an absolute gift, becomes a valuable asset, and its central location in the heart of Chicago makes it an ideal permanent home for the institution.

The adjoining pages contain a reproduction of the bronze tablet which adorns the building and which records the names of those who contributed to its purchase, and also two cuts which very imperfectly illustrate the building with its surroundings. This property is within a few blocks of the center of the business loop of Chicago, and in a location that is not only ideal for the home of our institution but one in which the land value will rapidly increase.

The Fellows of the American College of Surgeons are invited to inspect the new home and to make it their headquarters when visiting Chicago.

THE COLLEGE LIBRARY

The College is gradually assembling a comprehensive library of surgical literature. This undertaking was initiated by action of the Board of Regents in June, 1921.

One of the purposes of the Library is to assemble and preserve a complete collection of the works of the Fellows. For this reason each new member, and every member who has not already done so, is asked to send in autographed copies of his works. Each Fellow is also requested to contribute duplicate copies of all reprints. One copy is placed in a file which is to be kept intact as a permanent record of the works of the Fellows. The other copy is for the College package library, a collection of classified material which may be loaned upon request.

It is the purpose of the Library to collect books of historical interest, modern scientific works, and files of the leading Surgical journals, both English and foreign, in the specialties as well as in general surgery. Every member of the College is requested to send in a list of the books and journals, bound and unbound, which he is willing to donate or loan to the College from his private collection. Because of the interest which the Fellows have shown in this branch of the College activity, the collection has outgrown its present quarters although additional temporary shelf space has recently been provided. The new building, a portion of which will be especially devoted to a research library with proper stack space, reading rooms, and seminar rooms for intensive study, will bring the collection into the more active service of the Fellows and will make it possible to go forward more rapidly with the accumulation of a Library which shall be truly representative of American surgery.

DEPARTMENT OF LITERARY RESEARCH

The Department of Literary Research is organized to bring the College Library within the reach of all the Fellows. Library service is furnished both to the surgeon in the large center who is too busy to spend hours in a library and has no editorial department in his clinic, and to the pioneer surgeon in the outlying districts. The Department is doing for the Fellows, wherever they may be located, what the editorial or publication department of a large clinic does for the staff of that clinic. It assists Fellows in the preparation and publication of their scientific books, papers, or lectures. It prepares special bibliographies, collects material, and makes abstracts and translations on any given surgical subject. There are trained persons on the staff for the various types of editorial work, and with the growth of the Department there will be specialized workers who can be sent out to assist in the preparation of surgical monographs. Later this Department, like the publication department of a clinic, will assist commissions composed of Fellows in the making of surveys, analyses, and statistical studies, based on various branches of the work of the Fellows.

The Department at the present time is giving these various types of literary assistance to Fellows at a minimum cost, sufficient only to cover the actual expense of the individual piece of work. That the Fellows are glad to have such work done under the supervision of the College is evidenced by the number and variety of requests received. During the development of the College Library, the Department has the use of the already existing medical libraries in Chicago. The Department is making every effort to give the greatest service to the greatest number and eventually, through an endowment, to bring the service within the reach of all.

THE GREAT MACE PRESENTED TO THE AMERICAN COLLEGE OF SURGEONS BY THE CONSULTING SURGEONS OF THE BRITISH ARMIES

This Mace has been designed so as to tell in a symbolic way of the close union between British and American Surgery, and of the ties which unite Great Britain to Canada and to the United States of America. It retains the traditional shape and proportions of the Civic Mace of the seventeenth century, and is of hand-wrought chiseled and repoussé silver gilt. It was made by Omar Ramsden, who embodied in his design some suggestions of the donors.

THE DEDICATORY INSCRIPTION engraved on the plate under the Crown sets forth that the Mace is a gift "From the Consulting Surgeons of the British Armies to the American College of Surgeons, in memory of mutual work and good-fellowship in the Great War, 1914-1918."

THE CROWN-SHAPED FINIAL is formed of six rich scroll buttresses upholding the "Sacred Flame of Science" issuing from a mortar of antique pattern, the model of which was recently found on the field of battle near Salonika. These buttresses spring from a cresting composed of alternating Maple leaves and American Eagles intertwined with the Serpents of Esculapius, while the position usually occupied by a band of jewels in a monarchical crown is filled with the words "The American College of Surgeons."

THE BODY OR HEAD is divided into six panels by the Winged Caduceus, being an ornamental rendering of the badge of the United States Army Medical Corps. The panels set forth the following "Achievements at Arms" in delicate and finely detailed repoussé work:

1. The full Blazon of the United States of America.
2. The Dominion of Canada.
3. The Royal College of Surgeons of England.
4. The Badge of the Royal Army Medical Corps.
5. The Shields of Arms of John Hunter and Lord Lister.
6. A Cartouche bearing the words "Philip Syng Physick 1768-1837, Father of American Surgery."

The lower portion of the Head is decorated with a symbolic band of water indicating the ocean which both unites and separates America and the Mother Country. The latter is symbolized by the British Lion Brackets of highly chiseled work which support the head and terminate the upper part of the staff. The talons of the lion's feet grip the hammered decoration of the upper knop, which consists of a design of American and Canadian Maple seed-pods and heart-shaped spaces. This hammered work is protected by boldly projecting, solid, jewel-like bosses of chiseled work.

THE STAFF is decorated with a free design of the national floral emblems of the United Kingdom — the Rose, the Thistle, the Shamrock, and the Leek. Intertwined among these are a number of ribbon scrolls, each one of which bears the name of one of the donors.

THE FOOT bears, as decoration, the root form from which the above spring and a series of six small shields which may be used for possible future arms of inscriptions. The extreme bottom knop is fluted with leaves of Isatis tinctoria.

The various parts are held together, in the traditional manner, by a rod of British Oak cut from a tree grown at Wytham, Berks. The extreme length is 3 feet 11 $\frac{1}{8}$  inches, and the weight of silver is 140 ounces troy.

RARE GIFT PRESENTED TO THE AMERICAN COLLEGE OF SURGEONS BY THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS IN IRELAND

A gift of priceless paleontological value was made to the American College of Surgeons by Sir William Taylor, K.B.E., F.R.C.S., and by Sir Robert Hy Woods, M.Ch. (Hon.), Past President R.C.S.I., both of Dublin, in the name of the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland. It consisted of the antlers of the extinct Megaceros Hibernicus, popularly known as the Irish Elk, which was found in a bed of marl underlying the peat bog of Bally Batagh.

Below is a copy of the inscribed plate which accompanied the gift.

(MEGACEROS HIBERNICUS)
PRESENTED TO THE
AMERICAN COLLEGE OF SURGEONS
BY THE
ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS IN IRELAND
OCTOBER, 1921

Although there are other specimens in existence, this particular specimen is unusual, both by virtue of its perfect condition and of its great size. It weighs more than 70 pounds and has a spread of over 5 feet.

It was found in 1876, by Mr. W. Williams, a naturalist and geologist, and formed the subject of an article by him in the Geological Magazine, August, 1881.

This gift will make a unique and valuable addition to the present collection of heads and antlers already in the College home.

CONVOCATIONS

The first Convocation of the College was held in Chicago on November 12, 1913. The Fellowship address was delivered by Sir Rickman Godlee, Bart., K.C.V.O., LL.D., F.R.C.S., President of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. Fellowships were conferred upon 1,059 candidates. At this time Sir Rickman presented to the College the following greetings from the Royal College of Surgeons:

"We, the Council of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, have heard with much interest of the approaching inauguration of the American College of Surgeons. We hereby convey to it our hearty good wishes, and express the hope that it may have a successful career and fill a position beneficial alike to the Profession and to the Community.

"We cannot forget the important advances in the Science and Art of Surgery, achieved by many distinguished Surgeons in the Continent of America during the past, and are proud to have enrolled upon our list of Honorary Fellows the names of some of the most active workers in these fields at the present day.

"In accepting the invitation for our President to take part in the opening Ceremony, we desire to show how we appreciate the intention of the American College to strengthen the bonds that already unite the Medical Profession amongst English-speaking peoples. It is a sentiment which always meets with a cordial response in this country, and it is one which this College will endeavor to support by all the means in its power.

"In witness whereof we have caused the Common Seal of the College to be hereunto affixed this 9th day of October, 1913.

President RICKMAN J. GODLEE

Vice-Presidents { G. H. MAKINS
FREDERIC EVE."

The second Convocation was held in Philadelphia on June 22, 1914. Fellowships were conferred upon 1,065 candidates. The Fellowship address was delivered by Dr. James G. Mumford of Clifton Springs, New York.

The third Convocation was held in Washington, D. C., on the evening of November 16, 1914. Fellowships were conferred upon 646 candidates. The Fellowship address was delivered by Dr. Edward H. Bradford, Dean of Harvard Medical School.

The fourth Convocation was held in Boston, on October 29, 1915. Fellowships were conferred upon 484 candidates. The Fellowship address was delivered by President E. J. James of the University of Illinois.

The fifth Convocation was held in Philadelphia on October 27, 1916. The Fellowship address was delivered by President John H. Findley of the University of the State of New York, and Fellowships were conferred upon 228 candidates.

The sixth Convocation was held in Chicago on October 26, 1917. Fellowships were conferred upon 313 candidates, 37 of these being in the regular service of the United States Army and 25 in the regular service of the United States Navy. The occasion was a great military gathering, hundreds of medical officers being present on leave. The Fellowship address, entitled "What is the War About," was delivered by Sir Berkeley Moynihan, K.C.M.G., F.R.C.S., Colonel in the Royal Army Medical Corps.

The seventh Convocation of the College was scheduled to be held in New York on the evening of October 25, 1918. On October 12, because of the prevalence of influenza throughout Canada and the United States, the Regents considered it imperative to cancel the meeting.

In the meantime the surgeons from England, France, and Italy who had accepted the invitation of the College to take part in the Clinical Congress program had sailed for New York. These surgeons were Sir Thomas Myles, C.B., F.R.C.S., Dublin, Ireland, Honorary Surgeon to His Majesty King George, Consulting Surgeon, Irish Command, Member Board of Consultants, British War Office, and Senior Surgeon, Richmond Hospital, Dublin; Lieutenant Colonel Raffaele Bastianelli, F.R.C.S., Italian Army Medical Corps, Rome, Italy, Associate Professor of Clinical Surgery, Royal University, and Surgeon-in-Chief, First Pavilion, Hospital Policlinico Umberto I; Major Pierre Duval, French Army Medical Corps, Paris, France, Consulting Surgeon to Seventh Army, Honorary Professor, Faculty of Medicine, Paris, and Surgeon to hospitals of Paris; Colonel George Ernest Gask, C.M.G., D.S.O., F.R.C.S., London, England, Consulting Surgeon, British Expeditionary Forces, Joint Lecturer on Surgery, St. Bartholomew's Hospital, University of London, and Surgeon in Charge of Out-Patients, St. Bartholomew's Hospital; Major George Grey Turner, F.R.C.S., Royal Army Medical Corps, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England, Lecturer on Surgery, University of Durham, and Honorary Assistant Surgeon, Royal Infirmary, Newcastle-upon-Tyne; and Major Adrien L. P. Piollet and Major Henri Beclerc, both of the French Army Medical Corps. Lieutenant Colonel George E. Brewer of New York, at the time in service in France, came with these guests as the official representative of the Medical Corps with the American Expeditionary Forces.

In order that the value of the messages which these surgeons brought from the allied lines at the front might not be lost as a result of the canceled meeting, the College arranged visits to as many of the surgical centers in this country as possible. These visits included Washington, where the foreign guests were greeted by President Woodrow Wilson; Camp Greenleaf, Georgia, where approximately 1,500 doctors were in training; Minneapolis, Rochester, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and New York.

The seventh Convocation was held in New York on October 24, 1919, when 325 candidates from the preceding year were formally admitted to Fellowship together with 213 new candidates. The Fellowship address was delivered by Sir Anthony Bowlby, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., K.C.V.O., F.R.C.S., of London, Senior Vice-President of the Royal College of Surgeons of England.

The eighth Convocation was held in Montreal on October 15, 1920, this being the first Convocation to be held in the Dominion of Canada. Fellowships were conferred upon 691 candidates. The Fellowship address was delivered by Sir William Taylor, of Dublin, Ireland.

At the Presidential Meeting of the Clinical Congress, held on the evening of October 11, 1920, the first John B. Murphy Oration on Surgery was delivered by Sir Berkeley Moynihan, K.C.M.G., C.B., of Leeds, England. At the same meeting the Great Mace described on page 19, was presented to the American College of Surgeons by the Consulting Surgeons of the British Armies in the World War.

The ninth Convocation of the College was held in Philadelphia on October 28, 1921. Fellowships were conferred upon 724 candidates. The Fellowship address was delivered by Sir Harold Stiles, K.B.E., of Edinburgh, Scotland. An interesting feature of the Convocation was the ceremony incident to the conferring of Honorary Fellowships in the Royal College of Ireland upon eight distinguished American surgeons.

The second John B. Murphy Oration on Surgery was delivered by Dr. William J. Mayo at the Presidential Meeting of the Clinical Congress, held on the evening of October 24.

The tenth Convocation of the College was held in Boston on October 27, 1922. Fellowships were conferred upon 756 candidates. Of these candidates, 661 were from the United States, 63 from Canada, 17 from Cuba, 13 from South America, 1 from the Dominican Republic, and 1 from China.

The Fellowship address was delivered by Professor Raffaele Bastianelli of Rome, Italy. Honorary Fellowships were conferred upon the following surgeons: José Arce, Buenos Aires, Argentina; José E. Casuso, Havana, Cuba; Henry H. Chown, Winnipeg, Canada; Andrew Fullerton, Belfast, Ireland; Einar Key, Stockholm, Sweden; Guillermo E. Münnich, Valparaiso, Chile; Enrique Pouey, Montevideo, Uruguay; José A. Presno y Bastiony, Havana, Cuba; Luis Razetti, Caracas, Venezuela; and Ulises Valdes, Mexico City, Mexico.

At the Presidential meeting of the Clinical Congress, held on the evening of October 23, the third John B. Murphy Oration on Surgery* was delivered by Professor Raffaele Bastianelli.

ACADEMIC GOWN

The gown adopted by the Board of Regents to be worn by the Fellows at the Convocations of the College consists of a body of navy blue mohair faced with scarlet velvet. The mortar-board cap is of the same blue material, with a scarlet tassel.

*To be published in full in the official Journal, Surgery, Gynecology, and Obstetrics, January, 1923.

STATE AND PROVINCIAL SECTIONAL MEETINGS

The Sectional Meetings of the American College of Surgeons may be divided into three divisions. There is the Public Meeting, the Hospital Meeting with Round Table Conference, and the Scientific and Clinical section. These Sectional Meetings during the past year have proved to be more successful than ever. Everywhere there has been a growing interest not only on the part of the Fellows of the College but by other members of the profession and the public at large. The movement for better hospitals, better medicine and better health, in which the American College of Surgeons has taken a leading part, has grown and developed with great rapidity.

The day when the medical profession could stand behind a veil of mystery has passed, and an educated public is looking to the profession not only for instruction but for leadership in matters pertaining to health. The College has recognized the spirit of the times and through the Public Meetings held at various points in the United States and Canada during the past year, has been attempting to meet this demand, and give to the people a message of health from the most eminent authorities. These meetings have always drawn large and attentive audiences and have received the most favorable comment from the public and the press.

During many of the Sectional Meetings a moving picture film "The Reward of Courage," kindly loaned by the American Society for the Control of Cancer, was shown in one of the local theaters. This film with a talk on cancer, given at the public meetings, stimulated the people to think seriously of the cancer problem. A series of instructive talks to the laity, often illustrated by lantern slides, on "Pre-Natal Care" were the means of attracting a great deal of attention. Everywhere the audiences at the public meetings have seemed eager to absorb any information concerning matters of health. In one city the Superintendent of Schools had arranged for the school children to write essays on hospitals and had explained to the children the essentials of an efficient hospital service. This message was carried by the children into the homes and was the means of stimulating greater interest in the various hospitals in that city.

While acting as a stimulus to the movement for better health and better hospitals, these sectional meetings of the American College of Surgeons, through the clinical and scientific sessions, have been the means of bringing to light much good surgical work being done by Fellows of the College. Every Fellow is coming to realize that he should do what he can to assist in the progress of scientific surgery. The members of the College are coming to the meetings with original ideas for discussion — ideas that will be helpful in the future development of surgery.

The Hospital Meetings and Round Table Conferences are held on the afternoon of the first day. These have been the means of bringing together those interested in hospitals and in the most efficient service for the care of the sick. Superintendents, trustees, heads of nursing service or training schools, and internes, from various districts have met together, many of them for the first time, to consult with one another and to devise the best possible methods for conducting their work. These meetings have been crowded to the doors. Hospital people all over this continent are asking how they can conduct their institutions so as to render the most efficient treatment to their patients and be of greatest public service.

The second day of each Sectional Meeting is occupied by a series of surgical clinics in the morning and the scientific section in the afternoon. The clinics are conducted in the local hospitals and are prepared and carried on by Fellows of the College. A large amount of excellent surgery has been shown. These clinics have been well attended and without doubt have added a direct stimulus to our work.

The Scientific Meetings have also drawn a large attendance. Here papers are given on various surgical subjects by eminent authorities. There is ample opportunity for discussion of these papers and the interchange of various opinions and ideas.

In conclusion, there is no doubt that the various Sectional Meetings of the American College of Surgeons have served not only to arouse the interest of the public in matters of health, but have shown to the public that the profession is not only interested but willing to take a leading part in the great movement for better health. The assembling of the Fellows of the College at the various Sectional Meetings has fostered a spirit of unity and interest in the College. It has shown that the College itself is interested in every individual member and is taking a leading part in the maintenance and uplift of the standards of surgery and hospital care of the sick. These meetings will be conducted during the coming year, and there is no doubt that in future they will be even more successful than they have been in the past.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEES

TREATMENT OF MALIGNANT DISEASES WITH RADIUM AND X-RAY

The Committee on the Treatment of Malignant Diseases with Radium and X-ray was appointed by the Executive Committee of the Board of Regents of the College in January, 1922, with the following members:—

R. B. Greenough, Boston, Chairman

C. F. Burnham, Baltimore	J. M. T. Finney, Baltimore
G. W. Crile, Cleveland	H. K. Pancoast, Philadelphia
William Duane, Boston	F. C. Wood, New York

Associate members of this committee to act as directors of local sub-committees, have since been appointed as follows:—

H. R. Gaylord, Buffalo	C. H. Peck, New York
A. J. Ochsner, Chicago	John G. Clark, Philadelphia
C. Jeff Miller, New Orleans	C. H. Mayo, Rochester, Minn.

A. Primrose, Toronto

Under these directors local committees have been organized and a uniform investigation of cases has been begun in established clinics in eleven cities: Baltimore, Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland, New Orleans, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Rochester, Minn., and Toronto. Forty-four surgeons are enrolled on these local committees.

The first subject selected by the Committee for investigation, is Cancer of the Cervix. It is proposed to secure reports, recorded on a uniform basis, of a series of cases treated in established clinics whether by operation, X-ray or radium, that the results may be fairly compared and summarized. An abstract record card has been prepared, giving blanks for recording the data desired in each case, and providing for a classification of cases; whether primary or recurrent diseases, and the extent of the disease at entrance to the hospital, as follows:—

1.A (Local and operable). Disease confined to cervix.

1.B (Border-line operability). Involving vaginal wall or uterine cavity.

1.C (Inoperable). Involving broad ligaments.

1.D (Advanced cases). Wide fixation. Remote metastases.

While it is proposed to carry on the investigation until a sufficient number of cases shall have passed the generally accepted time limit of five years following operation or treatment, it is believed advisable to accept at present, reports of cases of only three years duration, with the understanding that subsequent reports upon these cases will be provided. In every case presented as a "cure," pathological evidence of the diagnosis of carcinoma must be available.

That a fair estimate of the number of cases considered suitable for treatment may be made, a report of every case of cancer of the cervix presenting itself at each clinic in the five-year period between January 1, 1914, and January 1, 1919, is desired, together with a classification of these cases in accordance with the groups indicated on the standard abstract card.

It is planned that the abstract cards of all cases shall be submitted to the Committee for analysis, comparison and report. It is, of course, understood that the material collected at any one hospital, or by any one reporter, shall remain the property of that reporter for such publication as he may elect. It is also understood that no direct communication with the patient or his physician will be sought by the Committee. The reports will be considered confidential. All that the Committee asks is that the uniform conditions of this investigation be adhered to, and that the abstract cards be delivered to the Committee for analysis.

While it is desired to obtain immediate reports upon those cases of the cervix which have already passed the three-year time limit, it is hoped that this uniform method of recording cases may be introduced in the several clinics participating in this investigation, in order that more data may be collected as later cases come to maturity.

Up to date 2,400 abstract cards have been issued to local committees and something over 500 completed records have been returned for analysis.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) R. B. GREENOUGH, Chairman.

TREATMENT OF FRACTURES

Interest in traumatic surgery received great impetus through war experiences. The concentrated attention of the best surgical minds of this country and Europe upon the treatment of fractures resulted in hastening the establishment of certain fundamental principles and methods of treatment, which under normal conditions it would have taken years to effect. Some of these principles and methods are as yet entirely unfamiliar to many medical men. During the war period fractures were treated both by British and by American surgeons with results hitherto deemed impossible.

Surgeons are today as never before interested in fractures of bone. A well-grounded latent enthusiasm exists which may be advantageously utilized.

There is no recognized authoritative standardization of fundamental principles governing the treatment of fractures. There are no generally recognized appropriate uniform methods of treatment. Because of the absence of uniform methods, the teaching of fractures in medical schools is at variance and most unsatisfactory.

I take it that no argument is necessary to convince surgeons that the results of fracture treatment in the United States and Canada are deplorably bad.

There are brilliant results. There are good results. There are remarkable results. But in general, by and large, the results are poor; poor anatomically; poorer functionally. Every one of us can substantiate these statements.

We all as surgeons recognize these conditions. We all desire improvement in the results of fracture treatment.

Moreover, because of the present relations of employer and laborer, industry calls for better treatment in order to secure more satisfactory and earlier function.

And further, because of employers' liability laws and the working of the Industrial Accident Boards and Accident Commissions, Insurance Companies are demanding better results following fracture in order to put the laborer back on the job at the earliest possible moment.

The necessity for improvement is very widespread, touching every class in society, rich and poor alike, every general practitioner of medicine, and all surgeons.

The Committee on Fractures has been recently formed to study these problems and to make suggestions for improvement. The organization is simple. It consists of a General Committee of 18, and Regional Committees. Each member of the General Committee acts as the chairman of a Regional Committee. These Regional Committees cover pretty well the United States and Canada. Over 200 men are serving on them. All matters will be considered by the Regional Committees.

The General Committee has already asked three questions of Regional Committees:

1. What principles underlie first-aid treatment, including transportation?
2. What are the means by which these principles may be carried out?
3. What are your recommendations as to the equipment of ambulances and first-aid agencies, including hospital receiving wards, in the effort to establish standardization?

The replies to these questions will be studied and edited and a report made to the Fellows and Board of Regents for appropriate action. If the equipment recommended by the Committee can be included as a minimum requirement in hospital standardization, a long step ahead will have been taken to improve the present dire situation.

In due time a study of the teaching methods in medical schools will be made by your Committee on Fractures, and it well may be, that the College can help to establish a more uniform system, so that men who go from our medical schools will be able to recognize a fracture and be equipped to care for it. General practitioners first see and give the initial treatment to most fractures; hence the need of good medical school instruction.

Suggestions and constructive criticism in the conduct of these investigations are desired from any member of the College.

This Committee is alive to the grave situation in fracture treatment; there are a large number of fracture cases in every community. There are many suits for mal-practice. It is estimated that 60 per cent of the mal-practice suits brought in New York State alone are because of fractures. Cases of blackmail exist and are rapidly increased in number. The duration of disability of the laborer is too long after damage to his motor apparatus (as Hawley calls it). There is ignorance regarding simple and efficient methods of treating fractures. There is need for improvement in both graduate and undergraduate medical school instruction. Your Committee will spare no pains by its investigations and deliberations to help to remedy these evils.

REGISTRY OF BONE SARCOMA

The Committee on Registry of Bone Sarcoma has made a pretty thorough survey of Massachusetts and finds that there are only 10 cases of true bone sarcoma alive in Massachusetts, today. There are 27 cases of giant-cell-tumor. There are six other probable giant-cell-tumor cases.

Possibly a few cases have escaped our notice, but certainly there are not many. Assuming that we are correct that there are 10 cases of osteogenic sarcoma in a population of 4,000,000, it is a fair inference that there are only 250 cases alive today in the whole United States. As a maximum allowance for error we may double these quantities and say quite positively that there are not more than 500 cases of true osteogenic sarcoma in the country.

This survey of Massachusetts has cost the College about $200.00, but the Committee believes it is money well spent, for it defines the problem of the Registry as well as makes a reliable landmark in the literature of bone sarcoma.

If the Regents could stimulate the members of the College to register every living case of bone sarcoma, it would not be asking a very great deal of anyone as there are probably but 250 to 500 cases to be registered by our 6,000 surgeons. However, there would be somewhat more work than this because our experience in these two years has shown that there are at least two supposed-bone-sarcomas to one true sarcoma. This is true even of cases reported from first-class hospitals.

Turning now to the present status of the collection we can report that 234 cases are already registered for study, although only about one-fifth of these are considered by the Committee true osteogenic sarcomas. All the data sent to us has been collected in envelopes with serial numbers. Each envelope contains also X-ray prints and microscopic slides. Groups of envelopes of 15 each are collected in boxes for shipment to anyone interested in studying these cases. We have been sending these boxes to other pathologists for opinions, so that now each envelope has at least five written opinions of authoritative value on each case. We owe our thanks to Drs. Mallory, Wolbach, Wright, Hartwell, White, Speese, Fox and Phemister for taking part in this work.

The absurdity of our present nomenclatures of bone tumors is brought out by these collections of opinions on individual cases. For instance, the same tumor was named as follows by five different men:

Wright—Osteo-chondro sarcoma

Ewing—Osteogenic sarcoma

Bloodgood—Fibro-chondro sarcoma

Mallory—Chondro-fibro sarcoma

Wolbach—Sarcoma (Chondro)

They all refer to the same clinical entity for which we are now tending to use Ewing's term — Osteogenic Sarcoma.

In each envelope is placed a copy of this tentative classification which I now present.

This sheet serves several purposes. Primarily, it is a net to catch all the terms used for bone tumors. When these terms have been caught in the net, they are jostled into the strands automatically and pigeon-holed. After a time it will be possible for those interested to name anew each pigeon-hole and discard the tongues of Babel.

Each pathologist who reviews the case is to be asked to put his opinion on this sheet. The number of opinions is to be limited only by the number of pathologists who may be sufficiently interested to study the collection. Thus we shall all have an opportunity to see what Mallory means by osteo-myxo-fibroblastoma or Ewing means by xantho-sarcoma. Already those of us who are studying these cases have cut our nomenclature down about 90 per cent.

Secondarily, this sheet is educational. The printed matter gives our present-day views about our subject. It is intended to be provocative and we invite discussion.

Concerning a museum collection of specimens, we must report that we have not accumulated any considerable amount of material, nor do we especially desire to do so. We believe our collection of envelopes with x-rays, slides and especially opinions to be more serviceable at present. Each clinic seems to want its own material, and if it is preserved we can have access to it for extra tissue when we need it. Later when the museum of the College can receive it, we may beg portions of these specimens.

Respectfully submitted,

E. A. CODMAN, Boston, Chairman.

JOSEPH C. BLOODGOOD, Baltimore.

STANDARDIZATION OF CLINICAL LABORATORIES

The hospital has long treated its laboratory as a step-child. There are hospitals where the janitor receives more compensation than the pathologist or bacteriologist. The service rendered by the laboratory is now so well established that it need not be justified; but it remains to provide the laboratory with proper facilities for work and sufficient allurements to attract good workers into the field. There is a dearth of pathologists at the present time. The hospital can help make pathology more popular by giving the pathologist just place and appreciation. In order that the patient may ultimately get the best benefit from the laboratory so far as diagnosis and treatment are concerned, the laboratory should be a separate department with an independent budget. Recognition, rank and pay will allure capable young men into a rewardful field that offers special opportunities for service. But the pathologist must not be taken as a service man.

The Committee consists of: E. R. Stitt, Surgeon-General, U. S. Navy, Washington, D. C.; L. B. Wilson, Mayo Foundation, Rochester, Minn.; Ludvig Hektoen, McCormick Memorial Institute, Chicago; Francis Carter Wood, St. Luke's Hospital, New York; M. J. Rosenau, Harvard Medical School, Boston, Mass.

This Committee is scarcely organized and has just begun its work. It has prepared the following draft on the general standard requirements for clinical laboratories, which is presented only for the sake of discussion:

1. The Director of a clinical laboratory should be a medical graduate.
2. All interpretations of laboratory data should be made by doctors (of medicine, philosophy or public health) who are specialists in the branch of work to which the data pertain, i.e.:
  - a. Serologic and bacteriologic interpretations should be made by doctors who are trained serologists and bacteriologists.
  - b. The roentgen-ray departments should be directed and interpretations should be made by doctors of medicine who have specialized in roentgenology.
  - c. Tissue diagnoses should be made by doctors of medicine who are experienced pathologists.
3. Technical procedures (methods) used in an acceptable laboratory should be the most practical and at the same time the most accurate methods available that are approved by authorities on the subjects in question.

4. The equipment of an acceptable laboratory should be such that the proper technical procedures may be carried out. There should be ready access to current scientific books and journals.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

1. The director of a laboratory should be able to act as consultant in evaluating the various laboratory reports and in correlating them with clinical data.

2. Many technical methods — most of them perhaps — may be satisfactorily carried out by technicians. The data derived by such methods should, however, be interpreted by specialists and not by technicians.

3. If it be insisted that only the best modern methods be used in a laboratory, it follows that the technicians employed must be trained in those methods.

4. Clinical data and other pertinent information should accompany the submission of specimens or other material to the laboratory in all cases.

This outline has been submitted in writing to a large number of pathologists throughout the country and has met with general approval subject to certain suggestions and improvements. It was felt by those present that while the outline was a satisfactory basis for preliminary discussion, it would require considerable modification to meet the various grades of hospitals, as it is evident that the small country hospital could not meet the standard as submitted, which was rather adapted for larger institutions of not less than 200 beds.

The efforts of the College of Surgeons to "standardize" laboratories is the next step in hospital improvement. It is also clear that much good can thus be accomplished. On the other hand, permit us to put out a warning that standardization in itself can accomplish little. It would help but little to require all laboratories to be cast in a single mold. Standardization does not mean the uniform and discipline of a military organization. The mistake must not be made in making our standards too rigid and inelastic.

We would like to make an appeal for better cooperation between the physician who is responsible for the patient on the one hand and the director of the laboratory responsible for exact technical procedures on the other. Both are specialists. It is often difficult for the clinician alone to properly interpret the laboratory findings. It is also difficult and hazardous for the laboratorian to interpret results without a knowledge of the clinical facts. The two should be brought together for the mutual advantage of the patient. The laboratory men should always attend staff meetings and be encouraged in other ways to take a part in the work of the hospital. With reference to cooperation, suggestion is made that one good laboratory director might serve two, three, or four hospitals in a community.

This is a report of progress and of promise.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) M. J. ROSENAU.

HOSPITAL STANDARDIZATION

A high ideal of hospital service, a vision of community responsibility, a method by which this responsibility can be met efficiently day by day—this is Hospital Standardization. The following pages contain a report for 1922 of the progress of this movement—that of giving to the public the best service known to the science of medicine. It stands as a tribute to the idealism and the service of the combined medical and hospital professions.

For the past decade, American hospitals have been passing through a state of change. The development of modern surgery and medicine, the advancement in diagnostic procedure, the forward strides of pathology and roentgenology, made severe and confusing demands upon hospitals. In addition, medical men, hospital executives, and public health officials began to conceive of the hospital in a new light; that of an institution which centralizes in itself every department of modern medicine; which makes itself not only the clearing house for treatment, but also the headquarters for community health activities. Some such conception came to the minds of medical men and hospital executives, who were striving to give their communities the best in modern medicine. And this widening of responsibility was altogether natural. Hospitals, founded on a basis of service, had as their dominant motive the inherent desire to improve this service and to extend it to the entire community. The standardization program of the American College of Surgeons became the medium through which these ideals of the hospitals found adequate expression. It proposed a program of hospital service which voiced the needs and the ideals of hospitals themselves. Small wonder, then, that such a program has been adopted so rapidly. The soil had been prepared, the minimum standard was the seed, and better hospital service was the fruit thereof.

Hospitals ten years ago, as today, varied in size and scope from the clinical teaching organization of the large cities to the tiny hospital often owned and operated by a pioneer surgeon in an out-lying town. Could every hospital irrespective of size and financial condition offer reliable, honest service to its patients? Were there any fundamentals for hospitals applicable to every type of institution found in the American continent?

The determination of these fundamentals and their practical application clearly constituted the first step toward improvement. By correspondence and by actual visits to hospitals, the leading medical and hospital minds of America attacked this problem.

These men were not idle theorists—rather they were successful medical men of broad vision and hospital executives who were coping with actual conditions day by day. After careful consideration they elaborated four fundamentals without which no institution is worthy of the name of hospital. Later these fundamentals became known as the Minimum Standard for hospital service, and under the leadership of the American College of Surgeons this standard has been adopted by the majority of hospitals of the United States and Canada.

The success of this movement is one of the most fascinating stories in the annals of American medicine.

ORIGIN OF THE PROGRAM

Soon after its organization, the American College of Surgeons felt the urgent need of improving hospital records, as applicants for admission to the College were required to submit as a part of their examination one hundred case records of major operations. These records were so incomplete and fragmentary in many instances that the College became thoroughly convinced of the necessity for a widespread campaign to improve them. This was the initial germ causing the hospital standardization movement; as it developed, other factors in hospital betterment presented themselves, such as the need for more adequate laboratory service and more efficient staff organization. Accordingly, hospital superintendents, members of boards of trustees, and physicians of national repute were consulted in the endeavor to determine the best plan for instituting the necessary improvements.

Although, in general, the hospitals of the United States and Canada were very commendable institutions, no far-seeing individual could deny the existence of certain weaknesses which needed correction. It was decided in 1918, therefore, to send out questionnaires to all general hospitals in order to obtain complete information concerning the existing status of the following fundamentals: the type of staff organization, the extent to which hospital results were analyzed, the abolition of the practice of fee-division, the status of the case records, and the extent of the laboratory service. Replies to these questionnaires strengthened the growing conviction of the College that a personal survey of hospitals was imperative.

Next, a standard was needed upon which to base the survey, and leading authorities in the medical and hospital world were consulted further with this end in view. It was decided that the standard should be confined to the fundamentals which would insure the best hospital service; that it should be broad enough to be applicable to all general hospitals, and still detailed enough to avoid misinterpretation of the principles involved.

The hospital staff quite naturally was selected as the first essential to be considered in the standard. As a man often may be judged by the company he keeps, so also may a hospital be judged by the character and ability of its staff members. Restriction of staff membership to the ethical and competent, therefore, was admittedly necessary in order for a hospital to live up to its community trust. The necessity for some definite type of staff organization was mentioned because organization leads to efficiency, and lack of efficiency is inexcusable where human lives are concerned. The practice of fee-division was denounced as being absolutely incompatible with honest hospital and medical care; physicians buying and selling patients should have no place on a reputable hospital staff. Hospitals were urged to adopt a constitution and by-laws with specific reference to professional care, the keeping of records, and the attendance at staff meetings, because most hospital constitutions included no mention of such important essentials. Above all, the fundamental importance of regular staff conferences to analyze hospital results was especially emphasized.

Failure to hold such meetings, besides being the chief reason for staff disharmony, was responsible for the lack of realizing the full benefit from the hospital's vast clinical experience.

The basic importance, also, of complete case records needed strong emphasis. Realizing that the majority of physicians kept relatively meager office records, the hospital was considered the logical repository for the medical records of the community. It was a regrettable fact that many hospitals could furnish little evidence as to the amount of study made of each patient before treatment. From an economic standpoint alone, the value of the procedures carried on in the hospital was too great to permit of their being lost by failure of being recorded.

The rapid strides made by clinical and X-ray laboratories called for a more complete use of these important departments. There was a general deficiency in the quantity and variety of laboratory tests performed in hospitals. The operating room and pathological laboratory needed a closer correlation; each patient was entitled to more routine laboratory service.

With these considerations in view, the minimum standard was evolved in 1919. Whether it has stood the test of time is best answered by the fact that it has not been modified since its inception.

THE MINIMUM STANDARD

1. That physicians and surgeons privileged to practice in the hospital be organized as a definite group or staff. Such organization has nothing to do with the question as to whether the hospital is "open" or "closed," nor need it affect the various existing types of staff organization. The word staff is here defined as the group of doctors who practice in the hospital inclusive of all groups such as the "regular staff," the "visiting staff," and the "associate staff."

2. That membership upon the staff be restricted to physicians and surgeons who are (a) competent in their respective fields and (b) worthy in character and in matters of professional ethics; that in this latter connection the practice of the division of fees, under any guise whatever, be prohibited.

3. That the staff initiate and, with the approval of the governing board of the hospital, adopt rules, regulations, and policies governing the professional work of the hospital; that these rules, regulations, and policies specifically provide:

a. That staff meetings be held at least once each month. (In large hospitals the departments may choose to meet separately.)

b. That the staff review and analyze at regular intervals the clinical experience of the staff in the various departments of the hospital, such as medicine, surgery, and obstetrics; the clinical records of patients, free and pay, to be the basis for such review and analysis.

4. That accurate and complete case records be written for all patients and filed in an accessible manner in the hospital, a complete case record being one, except in an emergency, which includes the personal history; the physical examination, with clinical, pathological, and X-ray findings when indicated; the working diagnosis; the treatment, medical and surgical; the medical progress; the condition on discharge with final diagnosis; and, in case of death, the autopsy findings when available.

5. That clinical laboratory facilities be available for the study, diagnosis, and treatment of patients, these facilities to include at least chemical, bacteriological, serological, histological, radiographic and fluoroscopic service in charge of trained technicians.

Designed as a universal, as well as a minimum standard, it must be restricted to the basic principles underlying the best hospital service. There are many variable factors such as size, type, and location, which influence a hospital's procedure in carrying out certain policies. To meet these varying conditions, the standard omits any detailed description of how its principles should be enacted. It leaves this for each hospital to decide in accordance with local needs. Where there are several equally efficient means to an end, dogmatism in insisting upon one method hampers hospital initiative. This limitation to fundamentals, and avoidance of unnecessary detail, gives the standard sufficient elasticity to meet varying situations. The viewpoint of the College looks toward certain end-results, rather than upon specific methods to be used in securing such results.

The College recognizes the importance of many features not mentioned in its standards; these lack, however, sufficient uniformity in various hospitals, states, and provinces to warrant an equitable basis for comparison and rating. The published report of approved hospitals must be just. And the more complicated the standard, the greater will be the likelihood of error in selecting the list of institutions meeting it. It is believed, furthermore, that in the careful observance of all the principles of this standard, the various unmentioned features will be cared for automatically.

THE METHOD AND RESULTS OF THE SURVEYS

The hospital surveys of the College are personal surveys. Experience has shown that a study of hospital conditions through correspondence and questionnaires leads to many inaccuracies. The College surveys are conducted through a trained corps of hospital visitors, all of whom are graduates in medicine. The number of visitors employed in any year has never exceeded ten. Since the uniformity of a survey varies in inverse proportion with the number of men employed, by using relatively few visitors, all similarly trained, the College obtains strictly uniform reports. As an additional safeguard, each visitor covers a large number of states and provinces in order that he may obtain a general, rather than a local viewpoint of hospital conditions. This uniformity in the reports is an absolute essential to a just rating of hospitals. Upon such detailed personal surveys, the College is dependent for an accurate estimate of each hospital's status relative to the minimum standard.

The purpose of the visitors is to explain the minimum standard, to interpret its application to each hospital, and to offer constructive criticism and helpful suggestions to remedy any existing shortcomings. This campaign is one of suggestion only; there is no element of coercion entailed. It succeeds through the sanction and approval of the hospitals themselves.

Other organizations interested in hospital betterment have played a prominent rôle in advancing hospital standardization. The program of the College has been enhanced greatly by the endorsement of such organizations as the American Hospital

Association, the American Conference on Hospital Service, the Canadian Medical Association, the Catholic Hospital Association, the Conference Board of Hospitals and Homes of the Methodist Church, the Medical and Surgical Section of the American Railway Association, the Methodist Hospital Association, the Protestant Hospital Association, and numerous state, provincial and local organizations.

Internes and nurses are using the approved list of the College as a guide in the selection of institutions in which to pursue their training. The public is making increasing use of it as a means of determining which institutions offer safe and competent hospital care. Benevolent foundations employ it in deciding upon hospitals which are worthy of financial aid. The American Railway Association has recommended that all railroad employees, wherever possible, be treated in hospitals meeting the minimum standard. The United States Government, in its selection of hospitals for the treatment of its disabled veterans, utilizes the information furnished through the surveys and approved lists of the College.

Four annual surveys of the general hospitals in the United States and Canada have been made. Of the institutions having one hundred or more beds, 89 were found to meet the standard in 1918; in 1919, 198 fulfilled the requirements; in 1920, 407 or 57 per cent met the standard; in 1921 the number of approved hospitals grew to 579 or 76 per cent; and this year 677 or 83 per cent of the 812 hundred bed general hospitals are on the approved list.

Of the 811 general hospitals having a capacity of between fifty and one hundred beds, 335 or 41 per cent are approved, an excellent showing in view of the fact that previous lists published by the College have not included these smaller institutions.

Grouping together the 1623 general hospitals having fifty or more beds, there are 1012 or 62 per cent meeting the requirements of the standard.

THE FIFTY BED HOSPITALS

Although the College has been surveying the smaller hospitals since 1920, it was deemed advisable to withhold their publication on the approved list until sufficient time had elapsed to give them an opportunity to familiarize themselves thoroughly with the standardization program.

The smaller hospitals are under greater difficulties than the larger institutions. Many are forced to be practically self-supporting; the physicians are more prone to develop personal rivalries which retard staff organization; it is difficult for them to obtain internes; and sufficient laboratory service is often a serious problem. In spite of these difficulties, however, the small hospitals have welcomed the minimum standard with the same spirit manifested by the large institutions. Indeed, it is in these small hospitals where the greatest change in hospital service has been manifested. It requires patience to establish a complete case record system; to organize a harmoniously functioning staff; and to arrange for adequate laboratory service. These small institutions are to be especially commended, therefore, on the excellent showing which they have made.

In the United States and Canada there are 811 general hospitals having between fifty and one hundred beds. Of these, 335 or 41 per cent are on the approved list. This exceeds the percentage of hundred bed hospitals which met with approval at the time of the first survey.

The surveys of the College have demonstrated that the hospitals of this continent are receptive to any means of improving their service to the public. As the sphere of hospitals has widened, so have their responsibilities increased. Sensing these ever-deepening responsibilities and obligations, hospitals looked forward to a means of satisfying their broadened conception and ideals of community service. The minimum standard and the standardization program of the College furnished a concrete method by which these aspirations could be reached. The future will see the further elaboration by hospitals of the principles of the minimum standard, and a fuller realization of the spirit embodied therein.

LIST OF APPROVED HOSPITALS<sup>1</sup>

CAPACITY OF 50 BEDS OR OVER

The following list contains the names of those general hospitals of fifty or more beds, in the United States and Canada, which meet the minimum standard. In this list a certain number of the institutions are designated with an asterisk. This group includes those hospitals which, when visited, had adopted the fundamental principles of the minimum standard, but which at that time had not developed all of them to a degree meriting the fullest approval. The hospitals listed without an asterisk have received the benefits of a longer experience in the workings of the program and consequently a broader conception of its application.

THE BY-LAWS

I. NAME. The name of the corporation shall be the American College of Surgeons.

II. OBJECT. The object of the College shall be to elevate the standard of surgery, to establish a standard of competency and of character for practitioners of surgery, to provide a method of granting Fellowships in the organization, and to educate the public and the profession to understand that the practice of surgery calls for special training and that the surgeon elected to Fellowship in this College has had such training and is properly qualified to practice surgery.

III. THE COLLEGE. I. The College shall consist of all members of the corporation. Such members are to be designated as Fellows. The College shall vest the general management of the corporation in a Board of Governors. The Board of Governors shall, in turn, vest the details of the management in a board of trustees to be known as the Board of Regents.

2. The College shall hold an annual meeting on the day and at the place selected for the annual meeting of the Board of Governors.

IV. BOARD OF GOVERNORS. I. The original Board of Governors shall consist of the surgeons invited by the Organization Committee to serve as Founders of the College, who have qualified as Fellows. The members of this first Board of Governors shall also be known as the Founders of the American College of Surgeons.

2. The original Board of Governors shall be divided by lot into three classes to serve one, two, and three years, respectively. At the annual meeting in 1914, and at the annual meeting in each year thereafter, the Fellows of the College shall elect (in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents) fifty surgeons from among the Fellows of the College to membership on the Board of Governors, each to serve for a term of three years; thirty of these members are to be elected from a list of nominations, consisting of three members, each nominated by the following sixteen surgical associations and societies of North America, including one each from the United States Army and from the United States Navy:

1. American Surgical Association.
2. Surgical Section of the American Medical Association.
3. Section on Obstetrics, Gynecology, and Abdominal Surgery of the American Medical Association.
4. General Surgical Division of the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons.
5. Division of Surgical Specialties of the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons.
6. American Gynecological Society.
7. Southern Surgical Association.
8. Western Surgical Association.
9. Section on Surgery of the Canadian Medical Association.
10. American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.
11. American Orthopedic Association.
12. American Association of Genito-Urinary Surgeons.
13. American Laryngological Association.
14. American Ophthalmological Society.
15. American Otological Society.
16. American Institute of Homeopathy.

Twenty members shall be elected at large to represent surgeons of North America not affiliated with the above societies or associations. In case of failure of any of the above-named organizations to make its quota of nominations, or in case of duplication of nominees, the Board of Regents shall nominate members from among the fellows at large for the vacancies so caused in the list of nominees. The Board of Regents shall in the same manner fill all vacancies in the current membership of the Board of Governors due to death, resignation, or other causes.

3. The Board of Governors shall at its first meeting elect from among its own membership fifteen who shall be members of the Board of Regents; this group shall be divided into three classes of five members each, whose terms of office shall expire in one, two, and three years, respectively. As the term of service in each class expires, their successors shall be elected, each for a term of three years, by the Board of Governors in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents. Not more than four of each class shall be selected from one country. In event of death or resignation of any member of the Board of Regents, his successor shall be elected at the next regular or special meeting of the Board of Governors, but the Board of Regents may appoint a member of the Board of Governors to serve as Regent until this election takes place.

4. The Board of Governors shall meet in executive session annually for the transaction of business, which business shall include the election of members of the Board of Regents and other routine business which may be brought before it by the corporation or the Board of Regents. Such meetings shall be called by the Director General, at the direction of the Board of Regents. Special meetings of the Board of Governors may be called by the Director General at any other time at the request of the Board of Regents. Members of the Board of Governors shall be expected to attend other formal meetings and convocations called by the Board of Regents for the purpose of conferring Fellowships and for the transaction of other business.

5. Fifty members of the Board of Governors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

V. OFFICERS. 1. The officers of the College shall be a President of the College, a First Vice-President, a Second Vice-President, a Director General, and a Treasurer.

2. The President, the First Vice-President, and the Second Vice-President shall be elected each for a term of one year or until his successor is elected by the Fellows of the College at their annual meeting. The Director General and the Treasurer shall be appointed by the Board of Regents. The Treasurer shall be appointed for a term of one year or until his successor is elected; the Director General shall hold office during the pleasure of the Board.

3. The President of the College shall preside at all regular and special meetings of the College and of the Board of Governors, and at all Convocations for the conferring of Fellowships.

4. The First Vice-President shall preside at all meetings of the College in the absence of the President, and in the event of the death or resignation of the President shall assume the duties of that officer.

5. The Second Vice-President shall preside at all meetings of the College in the absence of the President and of the First Vice-President, and in the event of the death or resignation of these two officers shall assume the duties of the President.

6. The Director General shall be the chief executive officer of the College. Under the direction of the Board of Regents he shall have supervision of all activities and business affairs of the College, including the direction of the general executive office, he shall audit all expenditure and disbursement of funds of the College; he shall have charge of the Convocations and of the Clinical Congress of the College; he shall mail to the proper addresses all notices of all regular and special meetings of the College; he shall issue at stated intervals the Year Book of the College; he shall attend all meetings of the Board of Regents.

7. The Treasurer shall receive all funds of the College and disburse the same on checks, signed by him and countersigned by the Director General. He shall make a report in writing to the Board of Regents at each meeting of that Board of the moneys received and expended, and shall furnish a detailed statement of the financial condition of the College at each annual meeting of the Board of Regents. The Treasurer shall furnish a bond to the Board of Regents for the faithful performance of his trust.

VI. BOARD OF REGENTS. 1. The Board of Regents shall consist of sixteen members, fifteen of whom shall be elected from among the Fellows by the Board of Governors in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents. One member shall be elected by the Fellows of the College at their annual meeting as hereinafter provided, the Fellow thus elected to membership in the Board of Regents to be President of the College.

2. The Chairman of the Board of Regents shall be elected from among the members of the Board of Regents for a term of one year and shall preside at all meetings of the Board. In the event of his death or resignation, the office shall be filled by election at the next meeting of the Board.

3. The Director General of the corporation shall be the Secretary of the Board of Regents.

4. The duties of the Board of Regents shall be those ordinarily performed by a governing board, namely: To transact all detail business devolving upon the Board of Governors in carrying out the object of the organization; to regulate and to conserve the property interests of the College; to adopt rules and regulations for the admission of Fellows; to fix initial fees and annual dues of Fellowship; to create, appoint, and direct all standing committees; to elect Fellows to the College; to call all meetings of the corporation not already provided for; to arrange Convocations or other meetings for the conferring of Fellowships; to transact all business not otherwise provided for that may pertain to the organization.

5. Nine members of the Board of Regents shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

6. Regular meetings of the Board of Regents shall occur once in twelve months at the call of the Director General. Special meetings may be convened at any time by the Director General, or on a request to him made in writing and signed by thirty members of the Board of Governors, or by nine members of the Board of Regents.

VII. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. 1. There shall be an Executive Committee, consisting, first, of the President of the College, of the Director General, and of the Treasurer; and second, of four other Regents elected by the Board of Regents to serve for one year and who shall be eligible for re-election.

2. During the intervals between the meetings of the Boards, the Executive Committee shall exercise all the powers of the Board of Regents in the management and direction of the business and the conduct of the affairs of the corporation, except that it shall not have power to elect Fellows, or to regulate initial fees or annual dues of Fellowship. It shall keep a record of its proceedings and report the same to the Board of Regents at the next succeeding meeting for its approval. Whenever any vacancy shall occur in the Executive Committee, or in any office of the corporation, by death, resignation, or otherwise, which is not already provided for, it shall be filled by appointment by the Executive Committee for the remainder of the current corporate year. It may hold its meetings at such place or places as it may from time to time determine. A majority of the Executive Committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

VIII. FELLOWS. 1. The Fellows of the College shall be graduates in medicine who are licensed to practice medicine in their respective states and provinces, or medical officers of the federal services who have made an application for Fellowship (such application being endorsed by three Fellows of the College, one of whom shall be a member of the Board of Governors), who meet the qualification requirements that shall from time to time be established by the Board of Regents, and who shall be elected to Fellowship by the Board of Regents on recommendation of the Committee on Credentials, and who shall have signed the roll.

2. Each individual elected to Fellowship in the College shall be designated as a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and shall be authorized and encouraged to use the letters F.A.C.S. after his name on professional cards, in professional directories, and in articles published in surgical literature.

IX. PUBLICATIONS. The Board of Regents shall issue each year a directory containing the names and addresses of the Fellows of the American College of Surgeons arranged by states, provinces, and colonies.

X. Any Fellow of the College may be expelled for conduct which, in the opinion of the Board of Regents, is derogatory to the dignity of the College or inconsistent with its purposes. Such expulsion must be voted by a majority vote of the whole Board of Regents at any meeting, at which meeting the Fellow against whom charges are made shall be invited to be present, and may appear or may be represented, in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents.

XI. These by-laws may be amended by a majority vote of those present at any regular or special meeting of the Board of Governors, or at a meeting called for the purpose on request made in writing by a hundred members of the Corporation, provided that such proposed amendments are included in the call of the meeting at which such action is contemplated.

XII. The College shall hold an annual session of about one week in length at such place and time as may be determined by the Board of Regents which may include:

1. The Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons consisting of (a) scientific and literary papers concerning or relating to the art and science of surgery; (b) surgical and diagnostic clinics.

2. Annual meeting of the Fellows of the College, as provided by Article III, Section 2.

3. Annual meeting of the Board of Governors of the College, as provided in Article IV, Section 4.

4. Convocation of the College at which occasion candidates for Fellowship may be admitted to Fellowship in the College.
